I would however suggest that the expenditure on this account may be fully met from the budget grant of the Stationery Depot which may be increased, as with the use of type writers the ribbon should be regarded as a stationery article just like paper, pens, pencils, ink, &c., &c.

2. The number and kind of the ribbons required for 1917-18 for each of the two machines in use in this office Viz., Underwood No.5 and Remington No.10 were separately indented for but the ribbons supplied were of only one kind suited to Remington Typewriter with intimation that the other kind was not available. They were however used for both the machines with a slight adjustment without any inconvenience.

3. The systemoof supplying Ribbons from the Stationery Depot to offices using Typewriters may advantageously be made permanent as it would ensure the supply of materials of good quality and economise the cost thereof.

Adverting to paragraph 5 of the Government Order No. C. 5481-530/G.P.24-15-87 dated the 1st November 1916, re the supply of Typewriting Ribbons required for the use of the several offices from the Government Stationery Depot, I am directed to state that the requirements of this office for the current official year was included in the stationery Indent of this office and the Indent was complied with only in the month of December 1917, i.e., nearly when half of the year was over. For the five Typewriters in use in this office, 25 Ribbons had been applied for, but only 12 were supplied on the 10th December 1917. Out of these 12, six have been used and six are available for use for the rest of the period till the Indent for 1918-19 is complied with. New Ribbons were begun to be used only from January last and the machines had full work till the beginning of the vacation, i.e., for a little over three months. The Ribbons are now worn out and require renewal. The age of a Ribbon may be therefore taken to be about three months and for the five machines in use in this office about 20 Ribbons are required for a year. The Ribbons supplied from the Stationery Depot. are found to be good and so far as this office is concerned, with a somewhat more liberal supply than that made for the current official year, the arrangement of the Government in the matter of the supply of Ribbons from the Stationery Depot has been found to be satisfactory.

As for the working of the arrangement in the District Judges' Courts a report will be sent up to the Government on receipt of the reports from the District Judges.

(1) All the ribbons supplied should be of the same quality and of the required length, for some of them fall short of these requirements.

(2) Unless the stock of ribbons is replenished once a quarter the colour will not be lasting, and consequently, the number of ribbons used will be in excess of the normal.

(3) Ribbons of sizes to suit all the approved machines in use in the various offices, should be obtained and stocked. If not, such of them as are not available may have to be purchased locally.

(4) Ribbons returned by the offices as not being suitable should be promptly replaced.

SUBJECT:- Supply of typewriting ribbons.

Sir,

With reference to correspondence ending with your letter No.G. 17379-300 dated 30th June 1918 on the above subject, I have the honour to inform you that the present arrangement of supply has proved economical and worked satisfactorily and may, with advantage, be continued. The life of the ribbons supplied by the stationery depot last year was short probably owing to their being old stock. It would be better if fresh stocks are ordered direct from manufacturers and supplies made half yearly instead of yearly.

SIR,

With reference to your letter No.G.1797-807 dated 24th July 1918 calling for a report on the supply of typewriter ribbons, I have the honour to inform you that some inconvenience was caused last year by the supply of somewhat inferior kinds of ribbons and ribbons of other kinds than were indented for. There was also some delay in supplying these ribbons. The Superintendent of the Stationery Depot when addressed on the subject wrote to say "that the supplies of these articles to other offices are still less, owing to our stock being very low. The delay in stocking these papers is due to the present disturbed condition of the markets in general and of shipping difficulties. I am to point out therefore that the present inconveniences on account of short supplies cannot be avoided Arrangements are being made however to meet the requirements of offices as far as possible by local purchases" Under these circumstances I am of opinion that the system of stocking ribbons at the Depot did not work quite satisfactorily.

Sir,

With reference to your No.G.15806-55 dated 22nd May 1918, requesting to expedite the report regarding the present system of supplying ribbons to Government Offices from the Stationery Depot, I have the honor to state that the system may be continued. But I would like to bring to your notice that, with the increase of Office work in all directions, typing work has also increased considerably and having regard to the rise in the prices of these articles, only a very modest indent for 25 ribbons was made, but that the Superintendent of Stationery not only cut short the indent by more than half but also did not send any ribbons till 27th May 1918 with the result that this Office had to apply to Messrs: Addison & Co., for the ribbons till that time. This was objected to by the Comptroller as being contrary to the Government Order. I, therefore, request that the --- Superintendent, Government Stationery Depot, may be addressed to supply the required number of ribbons in time so that much inconvenience to work can be avoided. If there is any difficulty in the Stationery Depot supplying the required ribbons in time, the Deputy Commissioners may be authorised to purchase the required number and debit the cost to the Office contingencies

Considerable difficulty was experienced in securing the supply of the different kinds of ribbons required for the various machines in use from time to time to the great detriment of despatch of office work as the supply was not received from the Superintendent of Stationery in spite of repeated requisitions.
